

BIO OF ARTIST

Tenley is a jewelry designer and creator. She lives in a small fishing village on Rutherford Island in Midcoast Maine. Tenley uses lobster shells from local lobstermen in her community as the focus for her jewelry. Tenley earned her BA from Kenyon College in a collaborative major combining the disciplines of biology, economics and political science. Research for her thesis brought her back to the Maine coast, examining the lobster industry from three perspectives: that of the lobstermen, the natural habitat/biological influences and the overall government regulations on the lobster industry. Her interest in shells, nature-created beauty and the socioeconomics of historic towns and trades and lobster fishing in Maine synthesized into Lobster Designs.

Tenley is a mostly self-taught jeweler. She apprenticed briefly while living in Philadelphia, learning the art of PMC, Precious Metal Clay. Much of Tenley's early work in beaded jewelry has been sold in and around Philadelphia craft galleries. She currently offers her work in both consignment and retail shops.

LOBSTER DESIGNS

Jewelry Made from Real Lobster Shell

Go beyond a knick-knack souvenir and find quality, a special story and the celebration of coastal life in our Lobster Designs.

Who We Are

Lobster Designs is all about lobsters. We design and create jewelry that features lobster shell framed in sterling or 14K gold plated pewter settings. Each design is unique in color and texture, making it truly a one-of-a-kind piece.

We are commemorating a Maine icon in the creation of each piece of jewelry. Coastal life is unique as are the traditions that coastal communities are built upon. This jewelry showcases one of the many reasons we hold the Maine coast dear- the beauty of glistening shells found along a rocky shore and our connection to the land and sea. Go beyond a knick-knack souvenir and find quality, a story and the celebration of coastal life in our Lobster Designs.

Each piece of lobster shell jewelry comes packaged with details of the provenance of the shell used within. The name of the lobsterman who caught the lobster used in your particular piece. Information about “your” lobsterman, lobstering in Maine, recipes and fun lobster facts is available on our Facebook page at Lobster Designs or at our website: lobsterdesigns.weebly.com.

BLG

LOBSTER DESIGNS began with this simple piece, a circular pendant featuring the shell of lobster caught exclusively in Maine waters. The pendant comes with an 18" cable chain, matching the finish you select. As each piece is unique to the shell from which it was created, some solid shell pieces will show a dramatic gradation from red washing into orange. Others may be more consistent in color/tone. Our crushed shell is a mosaic of beautiful tones. Since our conception in 2005, we have since added more shapes and included Mussel shell as well as Oyster shell to create even more exciting jewelry pieces and all are available in this 3/4" piece.
